Look no further than here to find 22 free keyword tools you can use to help you research keywords to use on your website or in your marketing campaign.

While there are some great paid keyword services available, it is a recession. Therefore, I've searched the net to find not one, not two but 22 free keyword suggestion tools you can use when building your keyword list.

If you're short on cash, and trying to succeed in this internet marketing game, you'll need to find that low hanging fruit. Here's what I mean - You'll need to:

- find the words that you can bid on to get traffic to your website
- figure out what folks are searching for in regard to your market
- know are there any other ways people are searching for your market
- find the most searched keywords in your particular niche
- find what words can you use to build pages on your website.

That's just a few examples of the ways you can use these resources. Here's your list of the keyword research tools that I've found so far. Make sure you save this as a reference to use when doing your research.
